Lessing's later fiction includes Ben, in the World (2000), a sequel to the The Fifth Child; The Sweetest Dream (2001), which follows the fortunes of a family through the twentieth century, set in London during the 1960s and contemporary Africa; the grandmothers (2003), a collection of four short novels centred on an unconventional extended ...

Doris Lessing - Literature

Doris Lessing's debut novel "The Grass is Singing" is a raw, mesmerizing, and powerful indictment of racism in South Africa. In England, everything is understood in terms of class. In South Africa, everything is understood in terms of race. Mary, the protagonist, is a poor white, and that affords her the same luxury as a rich white in South Africa.

The Golden Notebook is a 1962 novel by the British writer Doris Lessing. It, like the two books that followed it, enters the realm of what Margaret Drabble in The Oxford Companion to English Literature called Lessing's "inner space fiction"; her work that explores mental and societal breakdown. The novel contains powerful anti-war and anti-Stalinist messages, an extended analysis of communism ...
